Investment objective

The primary objective of the Fund is to provide a balance between capital preservation and capital growth over the full investment cycle in local currency terms with a reduced level of volatility. The diversified portfolio invests into a wide range of asset classes including cash, fixed income, high yield, equities and property. As this portfolio has been designed for investors for whom sterling is the base currency, typically two thirds of the portfolio will be held in Sterling based investments. The Fund is ideally suited to investors with a medium risk tolerance with an investment horizon of three years or longer.

NAV to NAV figures have been used for the performance calculations. The performance is calculated for the Fund. The individual investor performance may differ, as a result of various factors, including the actual investment date. Investment performance calculations are available for verification upon request. Annualised returns are period returns re-scaled to a period of 1 year. This allows investors to compare returns of different assets that they have owned for different lengths of time. Actual annual figures are available to investors upon request. Since inception figures are since the inception of the investment strategy.

* Please refer to the fund supplement and scheme particulars for a detailed description of fees and fund facts.

 The Total Expense Ratios (TERs) are the percentages of the net asset value of the class of the Financial Product incurred as expenses relating to the administration of the Financial Product. A higher TER does not necessarily imply a poor return, nor does a low TER imply a good return. A current TER may not necessarily be an accurate indication of future TERs. The TER to 28 September 2018 is based on data for the period from 29 September 2017 to 28 September 2018 and the financial year-end TER is based on data for the financial year-end to 29 June 2018. Cost ratios are calculated using historical actual and/or estimated data and are provided solely as an indication/guide as to the annual expenses/costs that could be incurred. These ratios do not represent any current/actual charges or fees.

 Current asset allocation figures reflect the strategy classification of the collective investment schemes (or similar schemes) held by the Fund and do not look through to the underlying holdings of such schemes.

■ Market commentary

In a sharp reversal of fortunes which began at the end of September, very few asset classes produced a positive return last month. The classic safe-haven assets including government bonds, gold and the Japanese yen produced positive returns, with the notable exception of US Treasuries which fell 0.5%. Equities suffered the brunt of the selling, led by Asia, down over 10% in the month, while most other regions fell 6-9% in local currency terms. Despite a bounce in the final days of the month, the MSCI World Index declined 6.8% in local currency terms, a slightly smaller fall than the 7.8% decline in emerging markets. Only Latin America produced a positive return, driven by a recovery in currencies and a surge in Brazilian equities.

As expected in a risk-off period, bond markets held up far better than equities, although credit came under pressure. High yield, investment grade corporate bonds and emerging market bonds all underperformed as spreads widened. Government bond markets including UK Gilts, German Bunds, Japanese and Australian bonds all produced small positive returns but US Treasuries declined. Sterling fell 2% against the dollar and has now depreciated by over 5% since the start of the year.

The worrying undercurrents which were evident in September, including the continuing tightening of monetary policy especially by the Federal Reserve, evidence that the US-China trade war was beginning to impact economic activity in China, the looming Italian budget and the ongoing Brexit saga, were all factors contributing to the sharp turn in investor sentiment at the beginning of October.

The two big issues set to dominate markets in the months ahead are monetary tightening by the Fed and the impact of the US-China trade war on growth. There are still few signs of excess or capacity shortages which might trigger an inflationary surge, and the constraints to growth and likely slowdown next year could well extend the cycle for some time ahead. With policy set to tighten further this remains an environment to keep duration short. Greater resilience is warranted in portfolios, and there are ample reasons for a more cautious approach, but valuations in equities have improved significantly as a result of weak markets and strong corporate earnings, and hence the sharp setbacks in recent weeks present opportunities to add to positions selectively.

■ Risk warnings and important notes

Collective investments are generally medium to long-term investments. The value of units may go down as well as up and past performance is not necessarily a guide to the future.

Collective investments are traded at ruling prices. Commission and incentives may be paid and, if so, would be included in the overall costs. All performance is calculated on a total return basis, after deduction of all fees and commissions and in US dollar terms. Forward pricing is used.

The Fund invests in other collective investments, which levy their own charges. This could result in a higher fee structure for the Fund.

Fluctuations in the value of the underlying funds, the income from them and changes in interest rates mean that the value of the Fund and any income arising from it may fall, as well as rise, and is not guaranteed.

Deductions of charges and expenses mean that you may not get back the amount you invested.

The fees charged within the Fund and by the managers of the underlying funds are not guaranteed and may change in the future.

Higher risk investments may be subject to sudden and larger falls in value in comparison to other investments. Higher risk investments include, but are not limited to, investments in smaller companies, even in developed markets, investments in emerging markets or single country debt or equity funds and investments in high yield or non-investment grade debt.

Notwithstanding ongoing monitoring of the underlying funds within the Fund, there can be no assurance that the performance of the funds will achieve their stated objectives.

The Fund will contain shares or units in underlying funds that invest internationally. The value of an investor's investment and the income arising from it will therefore be subject to exchange rate fluctuations.

Foreign securities may have additional material risks, depending on the specific risks affecting that country, such as: potential constraints on liquidity and the repatriation of funds; macroeconomic risks; political risks; foreign exchange risks; tax risks; settlement risks; and potential limitations on the availability of market information.

The Fund may contain shares or units in underlying funds that do not permit dealing every day. Investments in such funds will only be realisable on their dealing days. It is not possible to assess the proper market price of these investments other than on the fund's dealing days.

No borrowing will be undertaken by the Fund except for the purpose of meeting short term liquidity requirements. Borrowings will not exceed 10% of the net asset value of the Fund. For such purpose, the securities of the Fund may be pledged. No scrip borrowing will be allowed.

While derivative instruments may be used for hedging purposes, the risk remains that the relevant instrument may not necessarily fully correlate to the investments in the Fund and accordingly not fully reflect changes in the value of the investment, giving rise to potential net losses.

Forward contracts are neither traded on exchanges nor standardised. Principals dealing in these markets are also not required to make markets in the currencies they trade, with the result that these markets may experience periods of illiquidity. Banks and dealers will normally act as principals and usually each transaction is negotiated on an individual basis.

The Manager has the right to close the Fund to new investors, in order to manage it more efficiently, in accordance with its mandate.

Investment in the Fund may not be suitable for all investors. Investors should obtain advice from their financial adviser before proceeding with an investment.

Investors are reminded that any forecasts and/or commentary included in this MDD are not guaranteed to occur, and merely reflect the interpretation of the public information and propriety research available to the Investment Manager at a particular point in time.
