¹ Please refer to the fund supplement and scheme particulars for a detailed description of fees and fund facts.
² Global Cash is expressed in USD and is composed of 50% ICE LIBOR 3M USD; 25% ICE LIBOR 3M EUR; 10% ICE LIBOR 3M GBP; 15% ICE LIBOR 3M JPY. Prior to April 2019 the performance of the fund on this document was compared against a composite benchmark which comprised 65% MSCI AC World, 35% ICE BofAML Global Broad Market.
⁶ Current asset allocation figures reflect the strategy classification of the collective investment schemes (or similar schemes) held by the Fund and do not look through to the underlying holdings of such schemes.

■ Market commentary

The nervousness which had been creeping into markets during July intensified in August, with growing fears of a more broadly based global economic slowdown than the manufacturing contraction evidenced in the past 9 months. Equities fell sharply across the board, with the largest falls in the most economically exposed sectors. In contrast, safe-haven government bond markets rose sharply, taking yields in many cases to new all-time lows.

Unsurprisingly, in a month when the economic news was almost universally gloomy, emerging markets led the falls. Whereas the developed world equity index fell by 2.0%, emerging markets were down by -4.9%, leaving them up only 3.9% year to date compared with a 15.2% rise in developed markets. In bonds, emerging markets were one of the very few sectors to fall in the month, with a return of -2.7%, compared to a 3.6% positive return from US Treasuries.

It was in fixed income that the most remarkable moves took place. Worries about recession and continuing low inflation, together with the change in interest rate expectations and shift to easier monetary policy across the world led to extraordinary moves in bond yields. The US Treasury yield curve inverted across most of the curve, including the widely watched 2 year-10 year, which is often seen as a reliable indicator of a forthcoming recession. Elsewhere yields fell to new all-time lows.

Less clear is how the ongoing issue of Brexit is ultimately resolved. The political situation in the UK is so fluid that predicting what might happen, is near impossible. However, it appears certain that the only way to resolve the impasse, now that the UK has a minority government with little prospect of enacting its policy objectives concerning either Brexit or domestic matters, is for a general election within the next few weeks. UK markets, as a result, have remained under a cloud of uncertainty and seem set to continue to underperform the rest of the world until some clarity finally begins to emerge.

We have pointed to the need for greater caution in our recent commentaries and that caution remains warranted. The economic backdrop has deteriorated, corporate earnings are under pressure especially in sectors most exposed to manufacturing, and markets are largely discounting sizeable policy easing by central banks in coming months. But the extent of the global slowdown needs to be kept in perspective; trade and manufacturing are contracting but the service sector continues to grow, albeit more slowly, employment remains strong and the consumer is generally in good shape. There are no signs of systemic financial problems nor capacity shortages, inflation and a sudden tightening of policy. With inflation subdued central banks have considerable flexibility in keeping policy ultra-loose for much longer, thereby extending this extraordinary cycle.

■ Risk warnings and important notes

Collective investments are generally medium to long-term investments. The value of units may go down as well as up and past performance is not necessarily a guide to the future.

Collective investments are traded at ruling prices. Commission and incentives may be paid and, if so, would be included in the overall costs. All performance is calculated on a total return basis, after deduction of all fees and commissions and in US dollar terms. Forward pricing is used.

The Fund invests in other collective investments, which levy their own charges. This could result in a higher fee structure for the Fund.

Fluctuations in the value of the underlying funds, the income from them and changes in interest rates mean that the value of the Fund and any income arising from it may fall, as well as rise, and is not guaranteed.

Deductions of charges and expenses mean that you may not get back the amount you invested.

The fees charged within the Fund and by the managers of the underlying funds are not guaranteed and may change in the future.

Higher risk investments may be subject to sudden and larger falls in value in comparison to other investments. Higher risk investments include, but are not limited to, investments in smaller companies, even in developed markets, investments in emerging markets or single country debt or equity funds and investments in high yield or non-investment grade debt.

Notwithstanding ongoing monitoring of the underlying funds within the Fund, there can be no assurance that the performance of the funds will achieve their stated objectives.

The Fund will contain shares or units in underlying funds that invest internationally. The value of an investor's investment and the income arising from it will therefore be subject to exchange rate fluctuations.

Foreign securities may have additional material risks, depending on the specific risks affecting that country, such as: potential constraints on liquidity and the repatriation of funds; macroeconomic risks; political risks; foreign exchange risks; tax risks; settlement risks; and potential limitations on the availability of market information.

The Fund may contain shares or units in underlying funds that do not permit dealing every day. Investments in such funds will only be realisable on their dealing days. It is not possible to assess the proper market price of these investments other than on the fund's dealing days.

No borrowing will be undertaken by the Fund except for the purpose of meeting short term liquidity requirements. Borrowings will not exceed 10% of the net asset value of the Fund. For such purpose, the securities of the Fund may be pledged. No scrip borrowing will be allowed. The Cell is not permitted to enter into any form of borrowing or loan arrangement with other cells of the Company nor other collective investment schemes of the Manager.

While derivative instruments may be used for hedging purposes, the risk remains that the relevant instrument may not necessarily fully correlate to the investments in the Fund and accordingly not fully reflect changes in the value of the investment, giving rise to potential net losses.

Forward contracts are neither traded on exchanges nor standardised. Principals dealing in these markets are also not required to make markets in the currencies they trade, with the result that these markets may experience periods of illiquidity. Banks and dealers will normally act as principals and usually each transaction is negotiated on an individual basis.

The Manager has the right to close the Fund to new investors, in order to manage it more efficiently, in accordance with its mandate.

Investment in the Fund may not be suitable for all investors. Investors should obtain advice from their financial adviser before proceeding with an investment.

Investors are reminded that any forecasts and/or commentary included in this MDD are not guaranteed to occur, and merely reflect the interpretation of the public information and propriety research available to the Investment Manager at a particular point in time.
