■ Market commentary

Following the trend of last month, stocks continued their upward move on the back of a combination of constructive US-China trade talks, a more dovish tone from the US Fed and implementation of Chinese stimulus measures. All pointing to a more supportive equity market.

In the US, Economic growth remains on an upward trend. Although the reading has reduced from the prior third quarter 3.4% growth, the 2.6% seen in the final quarter of 2018 remains above the trend. Supporting this robust growth rate, PMI data printed better than expected for January with a reading of 56.6. On the consumer front, retail sales for December largely disappointed markets with the control group reading declining 1.7%. Conflicting data reported by JPMorgan showed retail store earnings being more robust over the same period.

The S&P ended the month up 4.12%.

In Europe, month after month, data remains to disappoint and will most likely continue in months to come. Demand from China has placed great pressure on Europe as well as trade tensions with the US. Preliminary GDP data for the fourth quarter saw growth remain flat at the 0.2% level. The German economy managed to not grow at all over the fourth quarter while France grew better than expected. Markit PMI Composite has been on a declining trend since Feb 2018 with February showing a slight turn increasing to 51.4, mainly attributable to services PMI which increased for a consecutive two months. Markit Manufacturing PMI however dropped below 50 reporting a 49.2 which officially means it is in contraction territory.

FSE Dax TR and Euronext Paris CAC 40 GR returned 2.99% and 5.35% respectively for the month while the MSCI Europe ex UK GR ended 4.10% for the month.

In the UK, concerns and uncertainty remain heightened around Brexit. UK services PMI remains low at 51.3 increasing slightly from the January reading.

FTSE 100 TR finished the month up 2.69%.

In China, stimulus measures may be a leading factor for an increased investor appetite into emerging markets. Policymakers are implementing a mix of fiscal and monetary measures to support growth.

Emerging Markets (MSCI EM 50 NR) ended the month 1.05% higher.

The Caleo Global Flexible fund ended 4.23% for the month.

■ Risk warnings and important notes

Investment in the Fund may not be suitable for all investors and financial advice should be sought before proceeding with an investment. Past performance is not indicative of future returns and there can be no assurance that the performance of the Fund will achieve its stated objective. All performance is calculated on a total returns basis, net of all fees and commissions and in US dollar terms.

Collective investments are generally medium to long term investments and are traded at ruling prices. The value of the Fund and any income arising from it are not guaranteed and may fall, as well as rise, due to the value of its holdings, the income derived from them, and changes in interest rates. The Fund will hold shares or units in underlying funds which invest internationally, which will be exposed to exchange rate fluctuations, and may erode any potential gains.

Higher risk investments, such as small companies (even in developed markets), emerging markets, single country debt, equity funds, high yield and sub-investment grade debt may be more prone to sudden and larger falls in value in comparison to other investments. Unregulated funds may permit a greater degree of leverage than is permitted with regulated funds that are available to the general public in South Africa, which increases volatility and the risk of larger losses should the fund's value decrease.

The Fund may contain shares or units in underlying funds that do not permit dealing every day. It is not possible to immediately assess the proper market price of these investments, as they will only be realisable on their dealing days.

A fund of fund collective investment scheme only invests in other collective investments, which levy their own charges. The fees charged within the Fund and by the managers of the underlying funds are not guaranteed and are subject to change thereby impacting the Fund's performance. Commissions and incentives may be paid and, if so, would be included in the overall costs. Deductions of charges and expenses mean that you may not get back the amount you invested.
